

Mount Everest BASE CAMP TREK 2008

Trip Notes

The trek to Everest Base Camp is amongst the most dramatic and picturesque in the Himalaya. The scenery is varied and spectacular, the lodgings and tracks are of very high standard, and the interaction with the local inhabitants is forever memorable.

This trek is unique in that we have the privilege of spending some time at Everest Base Camp with our climbing expedition giving an appreciation of the inner workings of expedition life.

Outline of the trek

The trek members meet in Kathmandu, capital of the Kingdom of Nepal. We are greeted at the airport by our Kathmandu representatives, who whisk you through the thriving city to your hotel.

Once everybody has arrived we have a team meeting where introductions and the trip outline are completed. You will be briefed on the trip preparations and we can sort out any queries or questions you have.

Your guide will advise you on good shopping and the better restaurants to visit while you are in the city. After a sight seeing tour and familiarization with the sights of Kathmandu you are free to look around. There are plenty of shops and entertainment to suit all tastes. From excellent bookshops to mountain bike hire to CD shopping and bars, Kathmandu's retail fraternity is waiting to meet you!

We use a full day in Kathmandu sorting out any equipment problems you may have but don't worry if you have forgotten anything, there are plenty of good outdoor shops in Kathmandu

Next morning we fly into the village of Lukla at 9000 feet, the beginning of our trek.

The trek takes 16 days from our departure from Lukla until we return to that point. The walking is over mostly gentle terrain with a couple of long hill climbs that follow very well formed tracks through the Sherpa homeland.

The Sherpa are of Tibetan origin having traveled over the high Tibetan passes to settle in the Nepalese highlands. They developed trade between the two countries bringing gems, wool and salt from Tibet in exchange for the plentiful Nepalese products. The Sherpas brought their Buddhist religion with them, which they evolved to develop their own sect of the faith. They are very generous and spiritual people with a colourful lifestyle, and our trek allows us to spend time with them in their homeland, and visit in their monasteries.

The trekking days are moderately strenuous, and involve walking between 4 and 6 hours duration with plenty of scenic places to stop along the way.

We place a lot of emphasis on maintaining health to enhance our trekking experience.

There is the issue of altitude we have to contend with which is incorporated into our trekking itinerary. We have included rest days at the relevant elevations to allow our bodies to adjust to the thin air and we carry sufficient medication to deal with most altitude related problems. Experience has shown us that good hydration, rest days at significant elevations and good base fitness help avoid any significant problems during this trek.

From Lukla the trail contours the valley walls of the lower Khumbu valley with fine views through the stands of Himalayan Pines, up to the high mountains above. We spend a night in Phakding and next day we follow the valley to the base of the Namche hill.

A long climb brings us to the famous village of Namche Bazar, which is the center of trade for the Sherpa people as it has been for hundreds of years. There are many sights to delight in Namche Bazar with the dramatic views across the Valley to Mt Kwonde, a wonderful backdrop to the unique Sherpa architecture of the houses and lodges here. We take a visit to Sir Edmund Hillary's first hospital in Nepal, which is situated in the village of Kunde and sample high altitude croissants at the bakery in Kumjung.

The next stage of our trek takes us towards Tyangboche Monastery, the biggest of the monasteries in the Khumbu Valley, which we visit and spend peaceful time within. The ascent of the long Tyangboche hill takes us through a rhododendron forest, which is in full bloom during April.

From Tyangboche we have splendid views of the world's highest mountains. Mt Everest pokes it's head out above the high ridges of Mts.' Nuptse and Lhotse whilst Ama Dablam stands omnipotent over the valley. We gradually climb above the tree line into the sub-alpine regions and our next stop, Pheriche, is situated on a green plane with yaks grazing contentedly. A rest day here allows us the opportunity to walk about and enjoy the views.

On the trek we will be utilising the best accommodation option available to us. We may use tents at times if the lodges are full or as a result of other factors. By having a flexible approach we can remain together as an expedition and make the most of the situation in order to aid our acclimatisation process.

Our next stage takes us to Lobuche village and the base of the Khumbu glacier. Mt Everest is hidden from us even though we are so close, but Pumori, Nuptse, Lobuche and Taweche provide plenty of scenic splendor.

We then move to the last village in the Khumbu called Gorak Shep. Above Gorak Shep is Kalapatar, which is the highlight of the trek up the Khumbu. At sunrise or sunset the views of Everest can be magical and we hope to enjoy a photographic session with you there!

Today we move to Everest Base Camp! It is here that the climbers rest and recuperate when not actually up on the mountain and our group will have the privilege of spending some time with the expedition members. There is always plenty of activity as the Sherpas and climbers prepare for their next phase of climbing on the mountain. Loads of food, fuel, tentage and oxygen cylinders are carried through the spectacular Khumbu Icefall to the camps high on the mountain. A couple of nights here give us a chance to spend a bit of time with the climbers and see the inner workings of an expedition.

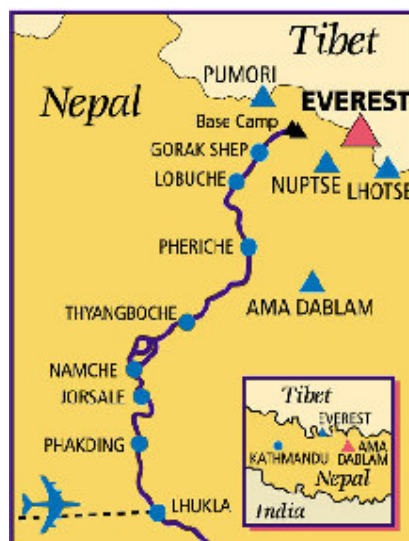

We say goodbye to the mountaineers to begin our descent to lower altitudes. The first stop is Lobuche followed by a night in Pangboche and then Namche Bazar. From Namche Bazar we descend to Phakding and Lukla and the following day we fly back to Kathmandu and the finish of the trek.

Food

Food will be of the highest standard possible, given the remoteness of the situation. Please inform us if you have any special dietary requirements.

In the Khumbu Valley during the trek we will be dining in the Lodges and at Base Camp we will be eating in the Adventure Consultants mess tent. Our base camp equipment and ample nutritious meals are always the envy of other groups on the mountain!

Equipment List

Expedition trek members will be sent a list detailing all necessary clothing and equipment to be individually provided.

Medical Examination

Expedition members will be provided with a medical questionnaire and asked to visit their family physician to receive a full medical examination. This information will be sighted only by the expedition doctor and treated with full confidentiality. Advice on immunisations will be provided at this time.

Documentation and Photographs

Expedition trek members will need to provide 3 passport-photographs for trekking permits and a copy of their passport bio-data page.

The advantages of trekking with us

Adventure Consultants is renowned for the quality of its service and strategy applied to their expeditions. Our reputation is attributed to meticulous planning and experienced logistics coordination. We have a philosophy of investing in every expedition to offer our trekkers the best possible experience.

We employ strong and specialized Expedition leaders and Sherpa staff, who are some of the most pre-eminent in the industry. We pride ourselves on operating with small teams, the best back-up and support available. This includes nutritious and ample quantities of food, comfortable base camp facilities, reliable communications systems and the necessary medical back up.

Many of our expedition members come to us because they have seen us in action on a previous trip and decide to opt for our level of service and proven experience. Others return because they know we do our very best to make expeditions safe and successful.
